Community Members:

On behalf of Newport Beach City employees, I wish all of you a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year! This will be the last edition of Week in Review for the year, and we will resume on January 7.

If you haven't done so already, please consider donating unwrapped toys, DVDs or sporting equipment to our "Operation Christmas" drive to support active military troops and their families. The deadline is Wednesday, December 22 at noon. Please see below for more information and drop-off locations throughout Newport Beach.

As a reminder, Newport Beach Civic Center and City recreation and community centers will be closed between Friday, December 24 and Monday, January 3, 2022. Police, Fire and other select City departments will remain open. For more details on hours of operation for select departments, please click here.

Because the Christmas and New Year's Day holidays fall on Saturdays this year, trash and recycling will be collected on your normal collection day. There will be no street sweeping service on December 23, 24, and 30 or New Year's Eve and New Year's Day (December 31 and January 1).

If you would like free pickup and recycling of your Christmas tree, please remove all lights, ornaments, and bases, and place the tree near your trash carts on the same day as your regular collection service between December 26 and January 15. Trees must be six feet or less, so you may need to cut trees larger than six feet.

Happy Holidays!

Visit the City's website for a complete listing of meetings and events at newportbeachca.gov/events.

Drought Survey Provides Guidance on Conservation, Water Use

A survey on drought response conducted recently by the City of Newport Beach reflected residents' views on water conservation and potential future community actions to save water. The survey, conducted online between October 27 and December 3, received 447 responses.

Most respondents were concerned about the drought and water shortage and have reduced their water usage in the last few years. Respondents expressed support for most water conservation practices, but less so for capturing shower water and stopping to water their landscapes entirely. Many favored developing a mechanism that would allow households to track their water usage to limit their consumption. A desire to see the City play a more active role in the water crisis — through education and outreach, enforcement, and leading by example — also appeared recurrently among survey responses.

I want to thank everyone who took the time to respond to the survey. The input will be useful as the City adopts strategies to reduce water use. You can read the full survey results at this link.

Recycling Education Displays Now at City Facilities

As we prepare for an expansion of the City's residential trash and recycling program in early 2022, City staff has set up displays and educational information at several public facilities. The displays feature educational materials and samples of different sized carts (a 96-gallon blue-top recycling cart, a 64-gallon landfill trash cart, a 32-gallon green top organic cart) along with a two-gallon organics kitchen pail that will be provided to all households. You can visit one of the informational displays at the Civic Center, the Central Library, CDM Library, Mariners Library, Marina Park, Oasis Center and Newport Coast Community Center.

Starting January 1, a new state law will require all Californians to recycle organic waste, including food waste and green waste, along with standard recycling materials. The City is updating our waste collection practices to minimize landfill disposal and align with the state's mandate to reduce organic waste by 75% by 2025. Blue-top carts for standard recyclables were distributed to residents citywide last month, and green-top carts for organic waste will be distributed starting in late-January 2022. Organic waste includes food scraps and green waste such as landscape and pruning waste.

You will be receiving more information on the City's expanded recycling program in the coming weeks and months. Please be on the lookout for a direct mail newsletter that will be delivered to all residents before the holidays. You can find more information at www.newportbeachca.gov/recycle, along with a list of frequently asked questions.

Newport Beach Library Gets 'Star' Rating from Journal

The Newport Beach Public Library has once again been named as a Star Library in the 14th edition of the national ranking, compiled by the Library Journal. In 2021, 5,846 U.S. public libraries were scored, based on data from 2019, on the Index of Public Library Service. The index compares peer libraries in seven areas: usage of online content, physical circulation, circulation of electronic materials, library visits, program attendance, public internet computer use and Wi-Fi sessions. Newport Beach Public Library is the only Star Library in Orange County, and one of nine in California. This is the twelfth time in the last 14 years that Newport Beach Public Library has been named a Star Library.

Minor Flooding, Debris Reported from Winter Storm

The City of Newport Beach was visited by our first major rainstorm of the winter season on December 14. Our City Public Works crews responded to various storm-related incidents throughout the City, such as localized flooding, trees, tree limbs, sand and other storm-related debris. As with all early season storm events, trash and debris along shorelines will continue to be present over the next few weeks as residual storm flows will be ongoing. Crews will continue to monitor, and clean-up as needed. As rainstorms continue to be in the forecast, we would like to remind everyone that free sandbags are available to Newport Beach residents Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. the day prior to a forecasted storm, and on the day of the storm at the City Corporation Yard, located at 592 Superior Avenue. Sandbags are limited to 10 per resident, with proof of Newport Beach residency.

Republic Services (Refuse Haulers) Reach a Tentative Labor Agreement

Last Wednesday, Republic Services refuse hauler unionized workers went on strike. While the majority Newport Beach's refuse collection needs are met by CR&R and other approved waste haulers under contract, the City has experienced some impacts from the strike.

The City's large waste cans located on the beaches are collected by Republic Services. Republic Services was able to provide some staffing to service our beach route this week, and it is expected that due to inclement weather and lower numbers of beach visitors, the lower levels of service will still be sufficient for the duration of the strike. Additionally, the City has worked with several HOAs that contract with Republic Services to address the refuse hauling needs of these neighborhoods. Republic Services has advised that it now has one truck operating in the City daily, which will provide a basic level of service to all customers. As of early Friday morning, December 17 Republic Services reached a tentative labor agreement and are hopeful to resume regular trash pickup services quickly and reliably. Republic Services plans to enhance services where necessary in order to make up for the temporary disruption in regular services.

Turn off Sprinklers Before, During and After Rainfall to Conserve Water

Orange County received a total of 1.45 inches of rainfall this week, bringing the seasonal total to 2.38 inches. The seasonal total average (from the beginning of July to the end of December) is 4.00 inches, and the annual average is 13.93 inches. While the recent rainfall is encouraging, it's too early to tell how the longer-term drought will unfold. Residents are still asked to conserve water and turn off sprinklers before, during and after a rainfall event. More rain is forecasted for next week. If you would like a free inspection or review from our Utilities Department staff regarding your water use, please feel free to contact the Utilities Department at (949) 644-3011.

Homelessness Update

The Yale center provides shelter for as many as 425 people experiencing homelessness and provides case managers who locate appropriate housing, assist with job searches, and provide other on-site services.
