Keeping Our Waterways Clean

One of the most visible impacts of rainfall is the amount of debris that collects in the Back Bay, Newport Harbor and along our beaches. The Santa Ana River and Newport Bay

Geography presents an ongoing challenge. The City sits at the terminus of two urban rivers in West Newport, and the Bonita Creek outlet that flows into the Back Bay, Newport Harbor and ultimately the ocean. During and after a heavy rainstorm, a tremendous amount of trash and debris accumulates along miles of river channel and ends up in Newport Beach. In some years, the City removes as much as 800 tons of trash and debris from beaches.

The City, along with public and private partners, has a number of projects to capture trash before it enters the bay and ocean:

- A debris boom in Upper Newport Bay collects about 80 tons of trash every year.
- Forty storm drains throughout the City are equipped with a capture system called continuous deflective separators. These units, which cost between $250,000 and $1 million each, capture 20-30 tons of trash a year collectively.
- More than 400 trash screens are installed in catch basin openings throughout the City, which capture an additional 2 to 3 tons a year in all.
- Newport Beach partnered with Santa Ana and other neighboring cities on a $9 million trash collection system in the Santa Ana Delhi Channel, which collects trash that would otherwise enter Upper Newport Bay.

Interceptors are deployed throughout Newport Harbor and collect 7 to 8 tons of trash a year.

Regular street sweeping helps prevent local trash and debris (oil, chemicals) from entering the waterways.

The City is working on a project to install a $3 million, solar-powered trash interceptor in San Diego Creek that will collect hundreds of tons of trash a year before it enters Newport Bay.

While these preventive measures are not enough to collect all the litter and debris that washes down the rivers during a storm. The City's Public Works beach maintenance crews perform the bulk of the cleanup along the coastline, using heavy equipment for larger debris and picking up smaller pieces by hand. Our Harbor Department staff also cleans up floating debris in the bay after storm events.

Our partners at Trellis International take on cleanup projects throughout the City every month and have focused on the beaches after the recent storms. We can also thank volunteer organizations, including Surfrider and Help Your Harbor, for organizing beach cleanup events that contribute greatly to keeping our beaches clean. If you would like to get involved in a beach cleanup, as an individual or group, please visit www.newportbeachca.gov/clean.

Expanded Recycling Program Hits 1-Year Anniversary

It's been a full year since the City of Newport Beach and our contractor, CR&R, introduced the expanded residential recycling program to comply with California law that went into effect on Jan. 1, 2022. Thank you to our residents who have embraced the program and helped divert hundreds of tons of organic waste from landfills every month while reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

Here is some information based on common questions we've received over the past year:

- The organics recycling program is mandatory for all households under state law. The City is working to make compliance as easy as possible, but the program does require residents to separate household waste into three different carts: organic waste (green-top cart); general recycling (blue-top cart) and landfill trash (black-top cart).
- All households are allowed one trash cart, up to two recycling carts and one organics cart at no additional charge. You can request different cart sizes and configurations. Additional carts are available for an extra charge.
- The kitchen food scrap pail makes it easy to collect food scraps in the kitchen. Compostable bags, newspaper or cardboard may be used to line the food scrap pail. The organics cart with food scraps will help neutralize odors.
- Kitchen scraps may also be placed in your freezer or refrigerator before depositing it in the green-top organics cart.
- General recyclables in the blue-top cart (glass, plastic, paper) must be clean and dry. Greasy paper, such as pizza boxes, can be placed in the organics cart.
- You can schedule and request a variety of services from CR&R, such as bulky item pickup and cart exchanges, online at <https://oss.crrinc.com>.
- Hazardous waste such as batteries, chemicals, and oil cannot be placed in any of your carts. You can schedule a free pickup with CR&R.

You're Invited: Community Forum Series on Homelessness

Learn about how Newport Beach is addressing homelessness through strategic partnerships

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16 at 6 P.M.

Featuring PATH
(People Assisting The Homeless)

The City of Newport Beach collaborates with PATH, a Placentia-based nonprofit, to locate housing for homeless individuals and help newly sheltered people remain in their homes. PATH Orange County Regional Director Melanie McQueen will discuss how the organization provides a wide range of services such as shelter and housing assistance, health care, job resources and ongoing case management.

These forums are part of an ongoing educational series on homelessness hosted by the City of Newport Beach.

Location: Civic Center Community Room, 100 Civic Center Dr.

For more information, please contact Natalie Basmaciyen at nbasmaciyen@newportbeachca.gov or 949-718-1991.

THURSDAY, APRIL 20 at 6 P.M.

Featuring the Orange County Office of Care Coordination

The City of Newport Beach works closely with the County of Orange to prevent and address homelessness. Zulima Lundy with the County Office of Care Coordination will discuss how the County works with cities and community-based organizations to expand shelter capacity, integrate services, and coordinate public and private resources to meet the needs of the homeless population in Orange County.

Bridges of Buck Gully Hike

Led by Irvine Ranch Conservancy Staff

Buck Gully is a natural, coastal canyon which opened to the public in 2012 with the installation of four bridges to allow for safe public access. These bridges facilitate exploration of the Buck Gully Reserve, and also provide viewing platforms from which to pause and observe the abundant life in and around the stream. The guided program starts with a short walk from the OASIS Senior Center to the beginning of the Buck Gully trail, offering a visually dramatic entrance into this special canyon.

- Walking pace, approximately 3 mph.

SAILING

Introduction to Racing Camp

OCC School of Sailing & Seamanship

A performance-oriented class for students with intermediate sailing skills. Using racing for skill development, sailors will learn how to sail the 14' RS Quest faster and more efficiently using sail trim and crew weight to maximize boat speed and improve overall performance. Other topics include roll tacking, advanced boat handling skills, weather recognition, tactics, starts, strategies for rounding a mark, boat speed, and racing rules. Sailing drills and short course races will allow each student to advance his or her sailing skills in a more challenging environment. Bring layered clothing appropriate for the season, a change of clothes, a towel, hat, sunscreen, water, and a snack each day.

- Requirements: able to swim 50 yards. Successful completion of at least 4-weeks of sailing camp on the 14' RS Quest of Lido 14 dinghy, or equivalent experience sailing a small dinghy.

ENGINEERING

Art & Architecture

Parker-Anderson Enrichment

Part math, part science, and part art, this class combines the fascinating worlds of art and architecture as students create building-themed 2D and 3D projects. Students will examine iconic works of architecture while creating models using assorted materials. Students will also create pictures of famous buildings and beautiful landscapes that incorporate multiple art techniques.

Ocean Adventure Program

Ocean Adventure Programs

PROFESSIONAL - EDUCATIONAL - EXPERIENCED

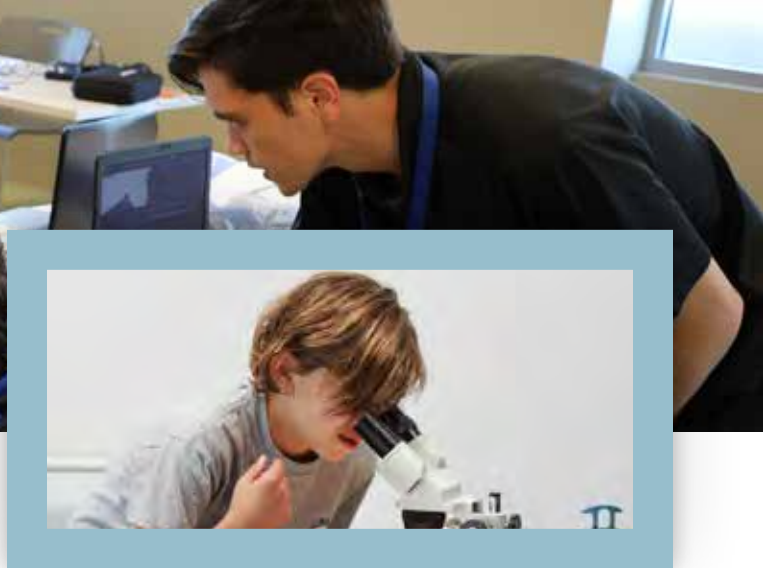

Join Ocean Adventure Program's amazing staff and 46 years of experience as we make learning a "Whale of an Adventure!" Mornings, campers go to Little Corona Beach to explore the tide pools, work from personal take-home field guides, observe whales and dolphins passing by, learn about ocean safety and swim under the watchful eyes of our CPR and First Aid certified teachers and camp counselors. We will also visit Big Corona and China Cove for beach field trips. Little Corona to CYC: Counselors will walk our campers safely to CYC, approximately a 15 to 20 min safe walk. Afternoons are spent in Corona del Mar at the Community Youth Center (CYC), where campers will dissect a variety of creatures including a shark and a starfish, examine plankton under a microscope, test for density, watch chemical reactions, grow crystals, make fish prints, do ocean related arts and crafts, and conduct hands-on experiments. We have a 4 to 1 student to teacher ratio. There is always something new to learn each week! Pizza party is provided on Friday.

- Provided: all equipment and a camp t-shirt and hat.
- Notice: Drop-off mornings at 200 Poppy Ave Corona del Mar, CA 92625 at the top of the ramp at Little Corona Beach. Pick-up will be at the Community Youth Center in CDM - 3000 Fifth Ave, Corona del Mar, CA 92625.

Youth & Teens Classes

The Recreation & Senior Services Department is here to help your kids stay active and engaged through all season! Your kids have a recurring outlet to tumble away in gymnastics, explore their creativity through art, engineer fun with their own robotic creations, set their team in a volleyball class, or let the melody flow through their fingers in a music class.

Ready to make the most of summer break? Check out the week-long camps on page XX!

To maintain safe programs, we continue to encourage routine cleaning & sanitizing of shared surfaces and practicing good hand hygiene. Programs may be modified to follow current State & County guidelines.

Teen Storytellers Workshop

April 18, 25, May 2 (Tuesdays) 5-7:00 pm

Learn to tell a great story, whether it's about your day, or the story of your life. This workshop series (teens only – ages 13-18) provides guidance in developing story and personal narrative. By learning how to organize thoughts and ideas, you can develop writing skills and learn to cultivate your voice in memoir, social media, blogging, and more. Limited, registration is required at newportbeachlibrary.org

College Prep

Admissions 101 Wednesday, March 29 from 7-8:00 pm

Attendees to this free seminar will get straight answers about what college admissions committees really look for and how they ultimately decide who gets in.

College List-building Wednesday April 26, 7-8:00 pm

In this free seminar, a Collegewise counselor will walk families through the first part of applying to college: conducting a successful college search, building a smart, well-balanced list that reflects a student's needs, and creating an application timeline that makes applying to college more thoughtful and less stressful.

College Essay Writing Seminar, Wednesday May 31

Learn about the most common college essay topics and how to approach them in the College Essay Workshop. This free workshop provided by Collegewise will help you gain the confidence and skills to write college application essays that stand out.

Update

ART AT THE LIBRARY

With six rotating exhibits each year, the lobby walls of the Central Library come to life with the work of local artists. Stop by to see the creative masterpieces ranging from paintings to photography, wood prints and more.

The City Arts Commission

On behalf of the City, the Arts Commission advises City Council on matters pertaining to artistic, aesthetic and cultural aspects of the City. It also actively encourages programs for the cultural enrichment of the community, including visual and performing arts activities as well as arts education programs. For more information and a complete list of programs, check our website at newportbeachca.gov/culturalarts.
