Council Vetoes Fractional Homeownership

After months of study by the City Planning Commission and extensive public input, the City Council has effectively prohibited fractional homeownership in residential neighborhoods.

Fractional ownership is where multiple property buyers, generally organized under an umbrella corporation, purchase percentages of homes for the right to use the home part-time. Many residents have expressed concerns about noise, parking, high turnover, and other neighborhood impacts that can arise with short-term stays.

The Council voted unanimously in March to broaden the definition of timeshare to include fractional homeownership. Since timeshare properties are not permitted in residential zones, the Council decision will make them illegal in all residential areas.

An ordinance amending the City's Municipal Code will be presented to the City Council for approval this spring, then submitted to the California Coastal Commission to amend Newport Beach's Local Coastal Program.

Update Cartwright Named Police Chief

Chief Cartwright, a 21-year veteran of the Newport Beach Police Department, was named in March as its next Chief of Police.

Cartwright has held a variety of field and command-level positions in just over two decades with the department, serving most recently as acting chief since late December, following the retirement of his predecessor, Jon Lewis.

"Chief Cartwright brings a tremendous breadth and depth of public safety leadership experience to this position," City Manager Grace Leung said. "He is a proven leader with a passion for providing the best possible police services to the Newport Beach community."

Cartwright is the 11th Chief of Police in NBPD history. He leads a staff of 233 employees, who serve in five divisions and a variety of specialized units.

Cartwright began his law enforcement career with the Los Angeles Police Department in 1999 and joined the NBPD in 2002. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in criminal justice, a Master of Arts degree in organizational management, and is a graduate of several advanced law enforcement training courses.

A veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps, Cartwright serves as the chairman of the board of directors for the Newport Beach 1st Battalion, 1st Marines Foundation, which provides support and relief for service members and their families.

'Good Giving' to Reduce Homelessness

The City discourages residents and visitors from contributing directly to individuals experiencing homelessness, in the form of cash, food, tents and camping equipment. Such direct donations, though generous and well-intentioned, can actually increase the homeless population by undermining City efforts to place people in shelters and connect them to services. The City has considerable resources and outreach, aimed at connecting people to the specific resources they need to secure and maintain permanent housing.

The Good Giving campaign encourages donations to a local, City-administered fund that provides homeless, formerly homeless and housing insecure people in Newport Beach with resources and support that will help them on a path to permanent housing.

To donate, visit www.newportbeachca.gov/give.

New City Website Helps Homeowners Build Accessory Dwelling Units

The City has launched a new website to assist homeowners in constructing Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs) on their properties. The user-friendly interface is designed to guide homeowners through multiple phases of the ADU process, from getting started through construction to renting out the ADU.

The site is a comprehensive resource that includes planning exercises, testimonials, the benefits of ADU construction, City incentives, financing options, and more. A guidebook that includes most of the content from the website is also available to download and print.

To reach the site, go to www.newportbeachca.gov/adu.

SCULPTURE EXHIBITION CENTER PARK

Display June 2023

The sculpture exhibition in Civic Center Park is an ongoing display at the Newport Beach Civic Center. The park, which covers nearly half a million square feet of land, was transformed into a new public park, designed by the renowned landscape architectural firm Peter Walker and Partners (PWP). The City Arts Commission determined that a rotating exhibition, in which pieces are loaned for a 2-year period, was an optimal approach to bring sculpture to the City in a cost-efficient manner.

Admission is free and the exhibition continues to be enjoyed by residents and guests of all ages and sensibilities. The rotational nature of the exhibit ensures that residents and guests are exposed to a variety of work. Selected sculptures will be on loan to the City of Newport Beach for two years.

The City Arts Commission

On behalf of the City, the Arts Commission advises City Council on matters pertaining to artistic, aesthetic and cultural aspects of the City. It also actively encourages programs for the cultural enrichment of the community, including visual and performing arts activities as well as arts education programs.
